

GAIETY ENTRIES FAILS TO WIN AT DOG SHOW

Baby Airedale Not Yet Up to Defeating Champions in Open Class.

HONOR BRENTWOOD HERO

Mrs. Morse's English Sheepdog the Best in Exhibition and Captures President's Cup for Owner.

Mayor Gaynor was the busiest man at the Nassau County Dog Show yesterday at Belmont Park, with the possible exception of Dr. E. De Mund, who had charge of more than a score of breeds, besides having to judge the unclassified specials. The Mayor had entered his young Airedale, Emport Piccadilly, which is the pride of his heart, but Piccadilly was shown by little Miss Gaynor, so Mayor Gaynor had only to stand at the ringside and direct things. Unfortunately, Piccadilly did not win any blue ribbons, for he is only a baby, and his owner, with great faith in his perfection, had entered him in the open class, where he had to compete with the champions. Lathrop Warren showed two new ones that ought to be heard from before long. They are Lad the Haymaker and Low Moor Afterglow.

Mrs. Tyler Morse's wonderful old English sheepdog, Brentwood Hero, was Dr. De Mund's choice as the best in the show. He won the president's trophy, offered by Alfred B. MacLay, and as the first leg went to champion, Slumber last year Mrs. Morse carried home the cup yesterday. Raymond Belmont's special for the best of the opposite sex went to John Bates's good little Irish terrier, Blarney Buttercup. Brentwood Hero carried away with his other trophies the cup offered by Dr. De Mund for the best in the show. The Tyler Morse trophy for the best hound was won by Alfred MacLay's greyhound, Killdeer Galliard.

Mastiffs made their appearance in the ring for the first time in a number of years, and while there were only three they were good ones. They were the recently imported British Monarch, Marquis of Lidgett and Countess of Britain. Sussex spaniels were another breed to appear after an absence of so many years that many persons had forgotten their show was such a breed. Gustav Mueller showed a quartet of good ones called Bonny, Prinz Beeber, Countess and Princess Cora.

R. R. Littlefield had charge of English bulldogs, and here Albert Lawson scored heavily with his recently imported champion, Dreamworld. Blunderbuss took the prize over Allison M. Lederle's Baron, but the trophy for the best of the breed, defeating not only the Baron, but Harry Rushton's champion Princess Merlow, which won the best for her sex. Dreamworld Centaur won the open class for dogs under forty-five pounds.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Mary Winthrop Turner, the Never Never Land Kennels were not represented, and then, too, poor little Beautiful Doll is no more. Frederick Poffet's Gamlin's Rival took winners over Fred Bauer's Cracker Bear, and this left only a yellow for Mrs. Malcolm Strauss's Beaux Athos. But Rival's victory was a short-lived one, for Rival's owner met Mrs. F. A. Doll's Lucia for the best of the breed he had to abdicate in favor of the attractive little lady.

There was a liberal classification for Pomeranians, with limit and open classes for every color and weight. In the final round-off Albert Poffet's Colley Mite defeated Mrs. A. M. Eagan's Ashlake. Pomeranians, however, were not the only winners. Mrs. F. Mayhew's Haughty Boy, Miss Anna Sand's champion Pom Patch Bepier Lassie took the prize for the best of her sex, defeating Miss Ella Borden's Ivy, which took first in the open class under eight pounds.

The awards follow:

JEROME TRAVERS AGAIN CAPTURES GOLF TITLE

Holds Metropolitan Honors by Defeating Kammer.

FIFTH SUCCESSFUL EFFORT

Right on His Game, Upper Montclair Star Brings Contest to Close with Seven Holes Still to Play.

Gaining an early advantage, at one stage as much as 10 up, Jerome D. Travers, of the Upper Montclair Country Club, easily retained his Metropolitan Golf Association title by defeating A. F. Kammer, of the home club, 8 up and 7 to play, at the Fox Hills Golf Club on Staten Island yesterday. In addition to winning the championship Travers also won the handsome Chauncey shield, which now passes into the permanent possession of the club he represents.

Immediately after the match brief presentation speeches were made by Frederick H. Thomas, secretary of the M. G. A., and Howard F. Whitney, a member of the executive committee. Thomas called attention to the fact that Travers had won the Metropolitan on no less than five occasions. He first got his name on the shield in 1906, when playing from the Nassau Country Club, and repeated the following year. Travers was runner-up in 1908, did not compete the next year, was runner-up again in 1910, retained the title the following year and has held it since.

Longer off the tee, straighter with his iron and well-nigh mechanically accurate on the greens, Travers, once he settled to the work at hand, always had the better of the argument. Last season, except on rare occasions, Jerry was forever having trouble with his wooden clubs, but his spliced driver, shorter and heavier than his predecessor, has been a willing servant in his hands this spring.

During the early stages the pair had a succession of ties, the sequence not being broken until Kammer brought a shout from the gallery by holing a shot from the long grass for a 2 at the fifth. The Staten Island champion had sliced his tee shot to the rough and his chances were looked about as bright as a cancelled postage stamp when Travers laid his iron nicely on the green. Kammer took out a mangle nibble, and playing a stroke that barely brought the ball out of the grass with left enough to clear the hole, never stopping until it hit the rough and disappeared. On his long try for a halve, Travers missed the cup by a few inches.

From that moment, however, the national champion played golf, the kind that wins in almost any company. By taking four straight holes, the eighth and ninth in 3 each, Travers reached the turn in 38 and stood 3 up. Kammer missed his second shot going to the eleventh, left there and also made a hash of the fourteenth, while on the fifteenth green an extra put robbed him of a chance to get a halve in 4.

They divided the short sixteenth in 2, and then Travers won the last two holes in the same figure. An approach at the seventeenth left him a put of a yard or so, while on the home green he brought off a 30-footer after Kammer had rimmed the cup on his long try. This brought Travers home in 36, giving him the round in 74, and placing him 5 up on the much-worried Staten Island champion. The possibilities of Travers's game had been illustrated in this round, for although he had made several mistakes he was still able to return an exceptional score.

A poor start by Kammer in the afternoon, the home golfer losing the first two holes through weak putting, made it look as if the match would not go much further, but Kammer suddenly settled down and actually won three out of the next four holes. A better approach enabled him to get a 3 at the third, and he got a fine 4 at the long fourth, his opponent slicing the drive over the fence. At the short fifth Kammer played out of a trap so well that he was enabled to bring off the put for a halve in 3. On the other hand, Travers, with a slight slice on the sixth tee, placed himself in a mean position on the hillside and won in 5.

From the seventh tee Travers's drive landed in the road, and it looked as if he would be unable to get home from there, but he halved the hole in 4. Travers, with a mighty drive to the edge of the next green, won there with a 3. Again, at the ninth, Travers got a 4, placing him down 9. He had gone out in 35 to his opponent's 39.

All the champion then needed was a halve, and as it had started to rain many hoped that the finish would not be delayed. Kammer had other ideas, however, and won the tenth with a fine put of eighteen feet for a 4. That sent the pair to the eleventh tee, which was halved in 5, thereby leaving Travers the winner, 8 and 7. The card was as follows:

Travers, out 4 6 4 6 3 5 5 3 3 38
Kammer, out 5 6 4 6 4 3 3 3 3 42
Travers, in 4 4 6 6 5 3 4 4 42-84
Kammer, in 5 6 4 6 4 3 3 3 3 42-84
Travers, in 4 4 6 6 5 3 4 4 42-84
Kammer, in 5 6 4 6 4 3 3 3 3 42-84

In the final round of the defeated sixteen of the championship division Max R. Marston, of Baltusrol, defeated E. M. Barnes, of England, 4 up and 3 to play. A. P. Palmer, of the home club, won the handicap with a card of 82-8-74, while the gross prize went to Fred Herreshoff, who got around in 79. Gilman Tiffany won the third sixteen trophy.

The summary and scores follow:
Championship division (final round): Jerome D. Travers, Upper Montclair, beat A. F. Kammer, Fox Hills, 8 up and 7 to play.
Beaten sixteen championship division: final round—Max R. Marston, Baltusrol, beat E. M. Barnes, Englewood, 4 up and 3 to play.

Thirteen (final round)—Gilman P. Tiffany, Fox Hills, beat Devereaux Lord, Brooklyn Forest Park, 2 up and 1 to play.
Fourteen (final round)—M. E. Sprague, Inwood, beat A. H. Harrison, New York Golf Club, 4 up and 3 to play.

STARS FOR CELTIC PARK

Famous Athletes in Postoffice Clerks' Games To-day.

The annual track and field games of the Postoffice Clerks' Association will be held at Celtic Park this afternoon. Unless indications go awry the games will be among the best of the outdoor season. Full teams from the New York Athletic Club, the Irish-American Athletic Club and the Boston Athletic Association will be on hand.

The half-mile run should be a remarkable race from the moment the pistol barks until the tape is snapped. Meredith, holder of the world's record for half a mile and 800 metres, and winner of the 600-metre run at Stockholm; Mel Sheppard, the veteran of the Irish-American Athletic Club, the hero of the London Olympiad, who ran second to Meredith at Stockholm; Abel Kiviat, of the Boston club; Myles McHugh and Homer Baker have entered.

Joe Silva, the champion distance runner of New England, will start in the five-mile run against Hannes Kolehmainen, the mighty Finn who has shown a clean pair of heels to the best distance men in the world.

MISSIS WILSON SEE RACES

Lieut. Rockwell Thrown from Horse, but Comes in Second.

Washington, May 24.—President Wilson's three daughters were among those who enjoyed to-day's racing of the Washington Riding and Hunt Club at Benning. Lieutenant C. K. Rockwell, of the army engineer corps, was a winner of one event and took second in the three others, capturing the Army and Navy cup race from a large field on Hand Running.

Lieutenant Rockwell was thrown from Noddy, but he remounted and finished second after an exciting chase. The last race, for the Washington Riding and Hunt Club trophy, furnished the greatest interest. Thomas Wright, of two Saints, who came out from behind in the last mile of a three-mile course, won. Lieutenant Rockwell took second on Middleton.

Because of the presence of Lady Navarre, a daughter of the famous Henry of Navarre, in the Stephen B. Elkins cup steeplechase, much interest was manifested in the outcome. Lady Navarre, with her owner, Charles K. Harrison, Jr., up won.

NOTRE DAME IN SHUT-OUT

West Point, with Neyland in Box, Wins by 3-Run Margin.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)
West Point, N. Y., May 24.—Neyland twirled splendid ball for the Army here to-day and shut out Notre Dame by a score of 3 to 0. The only error his team made was credited to Neyland himself, when he fell fiddling Kennedy's infield trap and threw wild to first in the third frame.

The score follows:

Yacht Races to Victory Aboard a Motor Truck

Surprises When Rules Are Suspended at First Race of Bayside Butterfly Class Boats.

Startling in the extreme was the first race of the butterfly class of the Bayside Yacht Club yesterday. Fifteen boats were built for the division during the last winter, and yesterday they had their first try-out on Little Neck Bay.

The Bayside Yacht Club has not as yet gone into commission, and the race was an informal one. Under the circumstances the chairman announced that all rules would be suspended. The practical jokers of the club took MacGregor at his word and forgot every rule of yachting in their endeavor to reach the finish line.

The starting line was between W. H. John's Welcome and Fleet. Captain Kellie's Anna K. Both yachts were anchored off the clubhouse. Hardly had the boats crossed the line than E. C. Sprague's Muth put and made for the club landing. Here the practical jokers were waiting, and the boat was hauled out of the water and towed across the clubhouse lawn.

WITH THE CUE AND BALL LAST TEST FOR CREWS

Hoppe-Yamada 18.2 Title Match Occurs Tuesday Evening.

William F. Hoppe, of this city, and Koji Yamada, of Tokyo, Japan, will meet for the world championship at 18.2 balliards in the ballroom of the Hotel Astor on Tuesday evening. Hoppe won the championship in the tournament held last November. On February 5, at the Hotel Astor, he successfully defended it in a challenge match against George Sutton, of Chicago. On March 15, at Pittsburgh, he wrestled the I.S.I. championship from Orlando Morningstar, and by so doing became the holder of the highest honors of both the standard ballgame games. Challenged by Yamada on April 17, he elected to meet the Japanese expert in forty days, the shortest period in which he could compel a challenger to play.

Both of the principals have practised steadily during the last three weeks. Hoppe, at Maurice Daly's, against José Ortiz, Albert G. Cutler, Harry P. Cline and Hal Coleman, and Yamada at George P. Slosson's, with the latter, Wilson P. Foss and Albert G. Cutler as opponents.

Playing 90-point games, Hoppe's performance has been the more uniform. He has averaged from 21 to 26, and has featured masterful and resourceful operations with gems of execution. Yamada's work has been extremely variable, and yet sensational. In one instance, when practising alone, he made an enormous run, by some spectators pronounced 100, and stopped without having missed.

Playing against Cutler, Yamada made 300 points in two innings, the runs being 235 and 42, causing Cutler, who is qualified to express an opinion about balliards worthy of consideration, to say he had never witnessed better playing by anybody. Nevertheless, Hoppe is a strong favorite at odds of 100 to 40. In the last few days, however, there has been plenty of support for Yamada.

Speaking of the coming match, Hoppe said: "I never felt better and I am confident that I will win. If the temperature of the ball is right and the table and balls in good condition, I am confident I will play a good game. Should the conditions be against good balliards, I will have none the worse of it. I believe I can beat anybody when the tools are good. But I know a practice table that I am used to and I will play with which I am familiar and playing on a new equipment such as we will have for the match. I expect to win 100 to 40."

George P. Slosson maintains that Yamada has a better chance to win Tuesday night than he generally believed. He says: "Yamada is a marvel. He learned to play crude balliards in Japan about six years ago, but his first ideas about balliards in Berlin about three years ago, and here he is going after the championship of the world."

In a game of 90 points Yamada is dangerous. If he gets to playing well, there is no telling what he will do. His one drawback is carelessness, otherwise he is a great artist. If he is beaten he will challenge again in the fall. Hoppe, who has been playing in public for at least fifteen years, has an advantage over him in experience and in open table play, but in no other way.

In the tournament last fall, Yamada, after being defeated by the champion, had him by 60 to 47. Since that time Yamada's improvement has been steady, if not remarkable. He is skillful, studious and apt, and if his health remains good he should be prevented from becoming a champion. Yamada was born January 29, 1888. Hoppe is a few months older, having been born November 11, 1887.
